Working with Us is Different

We hit the ground running.  We're a worker cooperative of engineers and designers committed to democratic principles. When everyone has a voice, we are better equipped to build software that faces business challenges head on.

When it comes to code, we believe thinking is more important than typing. We use pair programming and narrative techniques to reach understanding between our team and yours. By working in dialogue, we create a better, more equitable process for writing sustainable software.

Service Offerings

We offer custom software programming, human-centered design, PMI-certified project management, API design, data pipelines, data standards consulting services, and IT staffing.
